GCID Announces New Assistant General Manager

Willows, July 7, 2025 - Glenn-Colusa Irrigation District (GCID) is excited to welcome Brad Mattson as its new Assistant General Manager.

With deep roots in agriculture and a passion for water management, Mattson has built a career committed to serving farming communities and stewarding vital water resources. Raised in a rice farming family, and a fourth-generation rice farmer, he developed an early appreciation for the land and the critical role water plays in sustaining it.

Mattson advanced to leadership roles in the water industry, serving in the role of General Manager for both the Sutter Mutual Water Company/Reclamation District 1500 in Robbins, California, and the Aberdeen Springfield Canal Company in Aberdeen, Idaho. Before joining GCID, he was a Field Representative with The Morning Star Packing Company in Williams, California. Mattson holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Agricultural Business and a minor in Water Science, from California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

A devoted family person, Mattson and his spouse, Jill, have been married for 17 years, raising their two children Luke and Lainey, alongside their loyal dog, Charlie. In their free time, the Mattson family enjoys traveling, spending quality time together, and watching and cheering on their favorite sports team -- Go GIANTS!!!

“On behalf of the GCID Board, I wish to welcome Brad Mattson as our new Assistant General Manager. He has spent a career working in water and agriculture in the Sacramento Valley. He knows our region, he speaks our language, he is familiar with our issues, and he shares our values. I feel very fortunate to add an individual of Brad’s talent and experience to the GCID Leadership team,” said Logan Dennis, GCID Board President

GCID General Manager Jeff Sutton added: “Brad brings a wealth of water industry knowledge and experience, an intimate and personal understanding of agriculture, and a shared commitment and passion to our mission to serve the lands and water users that are GCID. I have great confidence that Brad will be a valuable addition to the District.”
